

Auditory Processing Disorders (APD) Referral Checklist

Please circle Yes or No for each item below as it pertains to the individual being assessed

Symptoms of hearing and/or listening problems related to Auditory Processing Disorder (APD):

Yes	No	Difficulty following spoken directions unless they are brief and simple
Yes	No	Difficulty attending to and remembering spoken information
Yes	No	Slowness in processing spoken information
Yes	No	Difficulty understanding in the presence of other sounds
Yes	No	Being overwhelmed by complex or “busy” auditory environments (e.g. classrooms, shopping malls, etc.)
Yes	No	Undue sensitivity to loud sounds or noise
Yes	No	Poor listening skills
Yes	No	Preference for loud television or music volume
Yes	No	Insensitivity to tone of voice or other nuances of speech

Other risk factors for Auditory Processing Disorder (APD):

Yes	No	History of a concussion or brain injury
Yes	No	History of neurological disorders affecting the brain
Yes	No	History of frequent or persistent middle ear disease (otitis media, ‘glue ear’)
Yes	No	Difficulty with reading or spelling
Yes	No	Suspicion or diagnosis of dyslexia
Yes	No	Suspicion or diagnosis of language disorder or delay

Any other comments/concerns about your child’s Auditory Processing:

To schedule your child’s Dyslexia & Processing Evaluation, call us at 801.492.6393